Student Learning Outcomes for Culinary Nutrition course (709:201)

At the conclusion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Identify and discuss the physical, economic, sociological and psychological factors that influence individual and group food choices.
2. Describe the physical properties of food and food products.
3. Understand the effects of food preparation, storage and services on the nutritional value and organoleptic qualities of food.
4. Understand safe food handling procedures.
5. Understand the microbiological hazards inherent in the food supply.
6. Identify and explain the functions of labels on foods and legal controls of the food supply.
7. Understand the nutritional properties of food and the influence food processing and food preparation has on the availability of nutrients in foods.
8. Translate basic principles of culinary science and nutrition into appropriate food choices.

2017 Core Knowledge for the RDN (KRDN) – Standards for the Didactic Programs in Dietetics:

Rutgers University Department of Nutritional Sciences undergraduate Didactic Program in Dietetics is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND) of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics (AND). The following ACEND Core Knowledge aptitudes are included within the curriculum of this course:

KRDN 3.4: Explain the processes involved in delivering quality food and nutrition services (i.e., food science, preparation and service skills assessed in final exam and online assignments).

KRDN 4.5: Describe safety principles related to food, personnel and consumers (i.e., food safety lecture assessed on first exam and online assignments).

PARTICIPATION & ATTENDANCE:

I believe one of the best ways to learn is from conversation with your peers. Please participate when you deem it is appropriate and please be courteous to your fellow peers while attending the virtual classes. Reading your assignments ahead of time makes you a better participant and makes the discussions more interesting. Top Hat will be utilized to take attendance during virtual classes, track participation, and for all four exams (each worth 75 points). If you cannot attend the class because of an emergency or are sick, each lecture will be recorded on Zoom and posted to our Canvas course site.

ASSIGNMENTS/RESPONSIBILITIES & ASSESSMENT:

Grades for this course are based upon a maximum of 400 points. There will be 4 hourly exams for 75 points each, 2 food & nutrition assignments (30 points each) totaling 60 points and attendance/participation (40 points). All students are expected to take exams during the assigned time in class. Make-up exams will ONLY be given at the discretion of the instructor with appropriate written documentation. Under no circumstances will make-up exams be given later than the week following the scheduled exam.

EXAM POLICY

All exams are mandatory – no exceptions! Exams will be conducted online via Top Hat. You will need an electronic device with good Internet Connection for exams.

Exam 1 will cover all material covered in class from the first day of class until the day of the exam.

Exam 2 will cover all material covered in class since the first exam through the indicated class meeting before the second exam and all assigned readings.

Exam 3 will cover all material covered in class since the second exam through the indicated class meeting before the third exam and all assigned readings.

Exam 4 (NOT Comprehensive) will cover all material covered in class since the third exam to the last day of scheduled class.

All exams will cover lecture material and assigned readings. Exam formats will be a combination of multiple choice, matching, and T/F. Students need to have a computer or other electronic device with internet access for taking the exam via Top Hat. Exams grades will be posted instantaneously and synced to your Canvas gradebook.

Food & Nutrition Assignments: There will be 2 food & nutrition assignments (Food Additive & the Food Science and Nutrition Essay) worth 30 points each (60 points total). Directions for these assignments along with the grading rubric will be posted on the Canvas course website.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

The university's policy on Academic Integrity is available at <http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/academic-integrity-policy>. The principles of academic integrity require that a student:

- properly acknowledge and cite all use of the ideas, results, or words of others.
- properly acknowledge all contributors to a given piece of work.
- make sure that all work submitted as his or her own in a course or other academic activity is produced without the aid of impermissible materials or impermissible collaboration.
- obtain all data or results by ethical means and report them accurately without suppressing any results inconsistent with his or her interpretation or conclusions.
- treat all other students in an ethical manner, respecting their integrity and right to pursue their educational goals without interference. This requires that a student neither facilitate academic dishonesty by others nor obstruct their academic progress.
- uphold the canons of the ethical or professional code of the profession for which he or she is preparing.

Adherence to these principles is necessary in order to ensure that

- everyone is given proper credit for his or her ideas, words, results, and other scholarly accomplishments.
- all student work is fairly evaluated and no student has an inappropriate advantage over others.
- the academic and ethical development of all students is fostered.
- the reputation of the University for integrity in its teaching, research, and scholarship is maintained and enhanced.

Failure to uphold these principles of academic integrity threatens both the reputation of the University and the value of the degrees awarded to its students. Every member of the University community therefore bears a responsibility for ensuring that the highest standards of academic integrity are upheld.
